News Briefs

Crawford Receives $150,000 Grant

Twenty families in Crawford County will be eligible to share a total of $150,000 provided through the Farmer's Home Administration Housing Preservation and Grant Program.

"Crawford County will have $150,000 available within one month for distribution to low and very-low income families to improve substandard housing," Congressman Bob Davis said. "This funding is timely because the work can be accomplished before the cold weather sets in."

In order to receive this assistance, families must own and live in the residences to be renovated. Crawford County Housing Commissioner Jeannine Eggert added, "Interested residents should contact the housing commission office in their county to get an application in the works. The money will be made available in mid-September."

Blood Drives Set In Frederic, Grayling

Two Red Cross Blood Drives will be held in the county on August 28 and September 5.

The Frederic Community Blood Drive will be held 3-6:45 p.m. Tuesday, August 28, at the Frederic Elementary School. This Frederic Blood Drive is to help provide enough blood for the Labor Day weekend. (Call Wanda and John Lingle, 348-3145 for more information.)

The Grayling Blood Drive will be held 12 noon to 5:45 p.m. Wednesday, September 5, at the American Legion in Grayling. The Blood Drive will help replenish blood supplies to northern hospitals after Labor Day. Donors must be at least 17 years old. Senior citizens are welcome. (Call Betty Pamerleau, 348-8348 for more information.)

British Vacationer Loses Wallet

Wendy Plummer, of Poters Bar, Hertz, England, was vacationing in Grayling on August 8 when she lost her wallet at or near the West Winds Motel, formerly known as Humphreys Motel, located about two miles north of Grayling on Old 27.

The wallet is made of royal blue nylon with the word "Australia" silk screened on it. Among other items, the wallet contains a Royal Bank of Scotland Visa Card, Miss Plummer's United Kingdom driver's license, a 10-pound note, and various personal papers and photographs.

Anyone finding the wallet is asked to return it to the Crawford County Sheriff Dept. and bring its return to the attention of Deputy Todd Golnick.

School Starts September 4th

Students attending the Crawford AuSable Schools will be starting classes one day early this fall. The first day of school will be Tuesday, September 4.

Superintendent, Kent Reynolds, said they are beginning school one day earlier than usual in anticipation of snow make-up days that must be added in June.

"We are trying to make snow day make-up as painless as possible," he explained.

CASD Names Mick Principal

Barbara Mick has been hired by the Crawford AuSable School District as the principal of Grayling Elementary School.

Mick was selected for the position, said CASD Superintendent Kent Reynolds, because the district wanted a principal who is familiar with today's elementary curriculum — more developmentally appropriate and more child centered than teacher centered.

She moves into the Grayling Elementary position after two years as the only instructor in Kirtland Community College's education department. There she taught Introduction To Teaching, wrote grants and made science in service presentations to area elementary school staffs.

Mick describes herself as a "self-taught science person." When she taught 1st and 2nd grades, she came to see science as a vehicle to spark study in all areas, so she began to build her entire curriculum around the skeleton of science.

Active with the Michigan State Department of Education, Mick served on the committee that developed new state science objectives this summer.

She also works with the Department of Education-sponsored SEMS (Science Education in Michigan Schools) Plus Program, a consortium of universities throughout the state that looks for new ways to teach science.

In regard to her new assignment at Grayling Elementary, Mick says that she supports those programs already taking place in the CASD — developmental curriculum, Math Their Way, and Writing Across the Curriculum, for example — and wants to see what else is happening here, rather than bring in her own agenda for change.

She views the principal's role as one which removes barriers to make it comfortable and possible for teachers to teach the best they can. She hopes for good communication and cohesiveness within her staff, and plans to work with them to set goals together.

Principal Mick graduated from Western Michigan University, with a B.A. in elementary education and undergraduate minors in English and creative arts. She has an M.A. in elementary education from Central Michigan University.

She lives in Roscommon with her husband Donald, who is Superintendent of the Gerrish-Higgins School District, and her two daughters, Alexis, nine, and Meredith, seven.

Grayling "has been supportive of many of the things we have been doing at Kirtland," Mick concluded enthusiastically. "I feel lucky to be an employee here."

Mick replaces Melvin (Pat) Nunn, who will be principal at Frederic Elementary School.

Big Wheels To Roll At Pines

Ting! Ting! Ting! The steady pulsing of a Blacksmith's mallet is a sound of the past. But the weekend of August 25 and 26, the sound of the mallet will be stronger than ever when Hartwick Pines State Park celebrates the Black Iron Days festival.

From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., each day, visitors to the park can watch as blacksmiths from across the Midwest demonstrate their craft. This event is one of the largest blacksmith festivals of its kind in the nation and is the largest in Michigan.

Visitors will have a unique opportunity to witness a steam-powered sawmill operating in the Lumbering Museum. This will be the last time in 1990 this particular sawmill will be operating.

The festival, sponsored by The Friends of Hartwick Pines and the Department of Natural Resources, will also feature demonstrations at the museum of an antique drag saw, log saw and buzz saw, as well as various craft demonstrations throughout the weekend. A team of horses will also pull a load of logs using the "Big Wheels."

The black iron days festival marks the last event for the summer at the Hartwick Pines State Park. While enjoying the festival, visitors are encouraged to explore the forest of towering pines that once comprised much of the northern Lower Peninsula and view the monarch pine — a tree that stands 155 feet tall.

The Lumbering Museum itself represents Michigan's leadership in the nation's lumbering history. Set amidst one of the state's largest remaining stands of virgin white pine, the museum consists of three log buildings offering visitors exhibits depicting the stories of Michigan's shanty boys.

The Lumbering Museum is open daily 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. through Labor Day. It is located inside Hartwick Pines State Park in Crawford County, eight miles northeast of Grayling, M-93. Use Exit 259 off I-75. No admission fee required. However, a state parking permit is required for entrance into the park. A daily permit is $3. A resident senior citizen annual permit is $3.75. An annual permit is $15.

ARTIST--Joe Kuttan can always be counted on to draw curious spectators, young and old, when he demonstrates his wood burning art during Black Iron Days at Hartwick Pines State Park.

GRAYLING ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL--Barbara Mick pauses briefly from her summer duties. She was hired recently by the Crawford AuSable School District as principal of the Grayling Elementary School.

Computers Arrive At Local Post Office

The Grayling Post Office entered the computer age recently when Integrated Retail Terminals (IRTs) were installed. Other additions include the construction of barrier free rest rooms for handicapped employees and a barrier free ramp at the front entry.

Postmaster Ken Peck explained the IRTs will allow postal clerks to keep an accurate accounting of window transactions. The computers will also make it easier to give customers cost comparisons.

"The computers will allow clerks to compare the costs of sending mail first class to fourth class and air international mail to surface international mail by simply typing a few keys instead of looking through several manuals," said Peck. "Initially the computers may slow things down at the window and cause some inconvenience," he said, "but within 30 to 45 days the clerks should become familiar with them and business should return to normal."

Peck said the computers will also simplify their current internal accounting and have the capability of being expanded to pick up additional accounting functions in the future.

Besides the new barrier free ramp, the post office is also constructing a split rail fence to give the office exterior a more rustic "Milltown" appearance.

Future projects include enlarging the service window inside to accommodate two customers at a time, constructing new counters, refinishing the floors, and painting the interior. The window and counter project should begin within 30 to 45 days and the remaining work will take place sometime during the 1991 fiscal year.

Mercy, TCOH Sign Joint Operating Agreement

The Traverse City Osteopathic Hospital (TCOH) governing boards, medical staff, and corporate body have just approved a Joint Operating Agreement (JOA) between TCOH and the Sisters of Mercy Health Corporation based in Farmington Hills, Mich.

TCOH entered a management contract relationship with Mercy three years ago.

Mercy was one of six health care organizations that responded to TCOH's request for proposal in July 1988. At that time the two organizations began discussing a JOA.

According to Edward Bruun, President of TCOH, "The JOA will provide TCOH with additional access to capital and necessary managerial and programmatic resources that will enable TCOH to successfully carry out and expand its mission."

"TCOH and Mercy share a common vision for providing comprehensive, compassionate, high quality and affordable health care services to the residents of northern Michigan. This agreement is a key step in that direction. The relationship with Mercy will enhance collaborative relationships with other health care providers in northern Michigan—relationships essential for developing cost effective and comprehensive community health care systems," said Bruun.

In commenting on the signing of the joint operating agreement, Joseph F. Damor, Executive Vice President of Mercy, said, "We, at the Sisters of Mercy Health Corporation, are pleased to further develop our collaborative relationship with Traverse City Osteopathic Hospital. We believe that, by working together, we can better serve the citizens of northern Michigan."

Sisters of Mercy Health Corporation, the largest subsidiary of Mercy Health Services (MHS), owns 23 acute care hospitals and six psychiatric facilities, and manages 13 hospitals in the Midwest. In addition MHS subsidiaries include a home health agency, an alternative financing system and 20 retirement homes and long term care facilities offering services for the aging. MHS is sponsored by the Sisters of Mercy—Province of Detroit.

In addition to TCOH, Mercy is also represented in northern Michigan by Mercy Health Services North (MHSN) in Cadillac and Grayling, Dennis Renander, Chief Executive Officer for MHSN, said, "Having worked cooperatively with Traverse City Osteopathic Hospital for a number of years, we look forward to an ongoing relationship with TCOH. Although we will continue to function independently, having TCOH on board creates opportunities to share resources and strengthen both institutions."

TCOH is an 81 bed private, nonprofit teaching hospital affiliated with the Michigan State University College of Osteopathic Medicine. Designated a Regional Rural Referral Center in May 1986 by the Federal Health Care Finance Administration, TCOH has a medical staff of 80 physicians, 430 employees and 200 active volunteers.

Recycling Corner

By Carol Wakeley

I'd like to share with you how I became started in recycling. I'm embarrassed to admit it, but I was, at one time, the biggest "thrower-awayer". Everything went in the trash. And I, like a lot of other people thought that as long as the trash was picked up and hauled away it was disposed of. Truth is, I disposed of it by getting it out of my yard, but it was just taken somewhere else and now is someone else's problem. I can remember burning piles of garbage and what didn't burn, I buried. If only I knew then what I know now!! Even though I have always been concerned with animals and their well-being, I didn't pay much attention at this time in my life, to the environment.

I started becoming concerned with the foods that I was giving to my family. I scrubbed fruits and vegetables longer than most people would to get the pesticides off. I checked labels on foods for MSG (monosodium glutamate), nitrates, and preservatives. I cut down on my consumption of red meat and started taking lecithin to clean out any cholesterol that may have been floating round in my arteries. I drank herbal teas and gave them to my family for certain illnesses. And of course, breast-fed my babies and made my own baby food.

I was still throwing away garbage galore, amazed at the amount one family could produce in a week's time. It was here that I realized a lot of things I was tossing out were still good for someone else. So from that point on, all clothes, toys, and some appliances that were still in good shape were given to the needy or a resale shop.

I felt that I was doing good. My family was real healthy and I was helping others out that weren't so fortunate. But I still had a lot of garbage and it stunk. The lids from cans would poke through the bags and the mess was terrible from all the other stuff that dripped out. Stray dogs and cats would smell the odor from cans I didn't rinse out and rip open the bags. Garbage would be strewn everywhere. Did the idea of composting ever cross my mind? Not once. I remembered a home economics teacher I had in high school said that she used to freeze all her food scraps until garbage day. This seemed to deter animals from getting into it until the garbage truck came along. In addition to doing this, I even rinsed out cans. I didn't realize just how much more I could have been doing.

Suddenly it seemed that whenever I picked up a magazine or had the news on, there was mention of how so much of our food and water was being contaminated. Different cancers were on the rise. Mercury poisoning was in the fish. Growing organic food was not so safe anymore. It appeared that a lot of the problems were related to chemicals being disposed of improperly. As far as I knew there wasn't any toxic chemicals around where I lived and my garbage was going into a "sanitary landfill", so I assumed I was safe.

It wasn't until a few years ago that the word "recycle" actually came up in any of my conversations. My mother would come to visit and urge me to separate my garbage. She said they were doing it where she lived because it was a necessity. I told her that if she thought I was going to stand around and flatten boxes or crush cans, she was crazy. But recycling was being mentioned a lot in the media. I learned that landfills were over-flowing and being shut down. People were paying high prices to have their garbage taken away because the closest available landfill was sometimes hundreds of miles away. Toxins were being reported leaking into water systems from these sanitary landfills. I thought of the site where our garbage is taken. I knew it serves five different areas. I called to see what was going on in our landfill-if there was any major problems. I was told that "things are getting bad out here."

Something sparked inside of me. Grayling is such a beautiful area. My father moved up here for that very reason. Was it too late to try to do something to make people aware that there are problems to be dealt with? Was it too late to save and protect what we have? When the recycling bins were placed at the transfer station I figured this was the first step in getting something important done. I didn't know how to recycle properly but I found out very quickly so I could help others do the same. I called other recycling centers and received tips over the phone. They gave me addresses where I could write for more information. Soon lots of mail was coming to me concerning the environment. I found myself looking in magazines in the waiting rooms of offices for articles on anything dealing with acid rain, the rain forests, the ozone layer, etc. I found groups I could write to and toll free numbers to call for catalogs containing earth-friendly products. I've even gathered information from the place mats of certain fast food restaurants that are involved in making their packaging of food safer.

Everything I could get my hands on in regards to saving earth, I read, and I'm still doing it. Still learning. Still trying to share what I learn with the people of this area through this column. We can make a difference. It is true that in some places it may be too late because the damage is not reversible. Let's not wait for that to happen here. Stop throwing away perfectly good resources. Get out of the habit of buy, throw away, buy new. Recycle, use safe products, support groups to save wild-life and our forests.

During this past week I realized a lot of people don't even know there are recycling bins at the transfer station. They are there and there is no cost for taking in your recyclables. If you do not know the proper way to sort and clean your items, please call me at 348-7795. It has to be done right. It is not hard and doesn't require much time. Don't wait as long as I did to change your ways. Years ago when I was the queen of throw away, I never would have believed that I'd be writing this now. If I can break old habits, so can you.

Letters to the Editor

To the great people in Grayling:

Last week I put a picture of my grandfather, James Perry, in the Avalanche, wanting to know if anyone knew who the other people in Blackie's Bar were.

The response was great. My phone rang all day Wednesday and Thursday. I got all the names and a little bit about them all. Because of that I am having them put it in the museum, if they want it. Then everyone can enjoy it.

I have lived here for three years and have found the people here very thoughtful and caring.

Thanks again, Grayling, for your nice family people, stop and see me anytime.

ALL ABOUT TOWN

Almanac

By Richard Milliman

Primary results quite ordinary

MICHIGAN'S PRIMARY election now has come and gone, without any really unexpected results.

On a statewide basis, the only real question was between U.S. Rep. Bill Schuette of Midland County and Attorney Clark Durant of Wayne County as Republican nominee for U.S. Senate. Mr. Schuette won by a 60-40 margin, which was not surprising. He had more party backing, more dollars, more campaign experience than Mr. Durant; in short, Mr. Schuette simply had more guns than his opponent.

What Mr. Schuette won was the right to face Carl Levin in November. Mr. Levin has 12 years in the job, plus a couple of million dollars or so at his disposal, and a hard-working unified party on his side. It will be uphill for Mr. Schuette all the way.

THE OTHER BIG statewide contest in November will be incumbent Gov. James Blanchard for the Democrats and State Sen. John Engler for the Republicans. Mr. Blanchard had a free ride in the primary, while Mr. Engler brushed off the primary challenge of John Lauve, a political self-starter.

In November, Mr. Blanchard must be considered the favorite. One post-primary poll of Michigan voters indicated if the election were to be held at that time, Mr. Blanchard would beat Mr. Engler, 48 to 34 percent, with 18 percent undecided.

Both sides probably take comfort from such a poll—backers of Mr. Blanchard because he is ahead, and Mr. Engler's minions because their champion is within striking distance, with two months to go.

Politics is a game of optimism. Politicians must be optimistic...otherwise they would be crying all the time.

NO OTHER PRIMARY results carried statewide significance. Most candidates who were expected to win actually did win...including most incumbents.

A couple of exceptions appeared in legislative districts, were incumbents lost. These included Republican Rep. Ed Giese in Manistee County, and Democratic Rep. Ethel Terrill in Highland Park, Wayne County.

Actually the losses of Mr. Giese and Ms. Terrill prove once again that voters can be discriminating...at least once in a

Notes from the Woods

By Nancy Lemmen

Michael Dennis Kelly.

I will be searching for his name at the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Moving Wall this week when it is in Grayling.

Michael Dennis Kelly.

I never knew his middle name. To me, he was always Mike Kelly. He was born in the United States of America on March 29, 1949. He died in Vietnam on August 6, 1969.

Let's see. On August 6, 1969, our family would have been celebrating my younger brother's birthday. His name was Michael, too.

Perhaps on that happy day we thanked the heavenly forces that he was only 14 and too young to be drafted or to enlist. We had no way of knowing that the war would drag on for another interminable six years, and that many more American servicemen would be killed in those faraway Asian jungles. But not my little brothers, thank goodness.

August 6, 1969. Right about then I would have been packing for my freshman year of college. I couldn't wait to leave my home, break away from the family, conquer new worlds.

Perhaps Mike Kelly had felt the same way when he joined the Army. Ready to get away from Mom and Dad. Ready to be on his own. Ready to tackle the world. Ready to...die.

It's been a long time since Mike Kelly was killed in Vietnam. Twenty-one years. A generation. And frankly, I never knew him too well, anyway. He was two years older than I, so we never went around together in high school.

But I do remember him hanging out with all the guys in the junior, then the senior hall, intimidating and embarrassing us freshmen, then sophomore girls as we walked past.

Mike was cute, with a ruddy complexion, an athletic build, and an Irish impishness. No doubt he got in trouble with his teachers and his parents on occasion. He probably earned average grades that could have been better had he studied, but having good times and lots of laughs seemed more important and more fun. In retrospect, I would agree.

After high school, he became engaged to Mary Lewis, whose family went to our church. When he died, I tried to imagine what it would be like to lose your fiancé, but I never asked her. I expect that today, 21 years later, she has married another man and is the mother of his children. It is even possible that her children have married and she is now a grandmother.

I remember that the Kelly family's life simply shut down when they received word of Mike's death. They drew their drapes, sat in a darkened living room, ate the food that people brought into them — and stopped living.

Then one day, the daughter Laurie — who was 15, my brother Mark's age — said something like, "We must go on with our lives. The rest of us can't stop living because Mike has died."

So I guess they picked up the pieces of their lives that remained and went on. I never knew Mr. and Mrs. Kelly well, and soon I lost touch with Laurie and her brother Brian.

I learned from the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Directory of Names that Michael Dennis Kelly was a staff sergeant when he died. I recall hearing that he was doing something brave — perhaps leading his men through the jungle one night — when he was ambushed by North Vietnamese guerrillas and killed.

I hated the Vietnam War when it was going on, and nothing I have read or heard since those days has made me hate it any less.

I have always felt great disdain for those in the United States government who involved us in that travesty, and who kept us there for nearly 20 years, and who nevertheless failed in their attempts to prop up the corrupt, crumbling South Vietnamese regime.

But I have never felt the slightest disdain for the nine million military men and women who served there. I honor them for their belief in and their sense of duty to our nation and its leaders.

And I feel the most profound sadness for the 58,175 of them who never came home from Vietnam.

Think of it. Fifty-eight thousand, one hundred seventy-five people — mainly men, but including eight women — who never again saw their home towns, kissed their sweethearts, ate their mothers' apple pies, shook their dads' hands, played catch with their kids, had a drink with their buddies.

Think again. Think of all the people you know now and have ever known. How many are there? A thousand? Two thousand? Perhaps as many as five thousand?

Then multiply five thousand times eleven and throw in a few thousand more and that is how many strong, young, brave people died fighting in the rice paddies and the jungles of Vietnam between 1957 and 1975. More people by far than you'll ever know in your entire lifetime.

Don't stop thinking. That's every person you have ever known, times eleven, who were killed in Vietnam, across the globe from a home they never saw again and for a cause that had no real meaning to them or to their families.

And, finally, think about how we Americans ignored their sacrifices when the war was finally, tragically over. It was a Vietnam veteran who developed the idea for a memorial and who pushed — against formidable, seemingly endless odds — for its construction. And it was three other Vietnam veterans who had the idea for a moving wall version to take to the nation's heartlands.

The veterans themselves, for heaven's sake.

The rest of us should have been crawling all over each other to be the first in line to tell them, "Yeah, it was a crummy war. But I am so grateful that you brave, strong guys represented us over there so that I — and my brother — and my father — and my fiancé — and my son — and my friend — and my neighbor — didn't have to go."

Actually my neighbor did go. And in the 20 odd years since he was sent to Vietnam I have never forgotten his courage nor his sacrifice.

When I go to the Moving Wall, it will be a small enough thing for me to do in his memory to run my hand over the cold, raised letters that form his name. And to pay my respects to a young man — a boy, really — whom I knew a little couple of decades ago. And to speculate on the man he might have become had it not been for the Vietnam War.

And after I have found his name, I will look at the other 58,174 names. And I will do the only thing there is left to do for them.

I will remember.

(Michael Dennis Kelly's name can be found on panel 20W, line 102 of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Moving Wall.)

Let's Talk About It By Joe Murphy

I feel we have a group of people here in Crawford County who do not get the recognition they deserve. They perform a terrific service to the elderly and handicapped folks in our area. They are the drivers of those red and white busses of Crawford County Public Transit or Dial-a-Ride. But my point is they do much more than just drive the bus. They help those who need it to board the bus or get off. They carry packages to the door if needed and if the footing is a little slippery, make sure riders are safe in their houses before they leave. They do many things to serve their riders that are way and above the requirements of just driving the bus. Thank you drivers for showing your care and concern for the folks that need your help. You are doing a great job and we salute you.

Isn't it great to live in an area where people show their care and concern for others the way folks do here? The big fire last May brought forth such an outpouring of help for those who lost so much. We all remember the devastation the fire brought but we can also remember that our community rose to the occasion by providing for their neighbors in time of need. We can all take comfort in knowing that help is there if the need should arise and that we do not stand alone. So many of our friends and neighbors work through service clubs and other organizations to serve those in need. As I said, it's great to live among such caring people, thank you.

Isn't it strange that we do not seem to care about our personal history until those who could provide the answers have passed on. I know I search long and hard for answers that Mom and Dad could have provided if I had only asked them when I could. I had heard many stories about my Grandfather Joseph Charron's farm out in Maple Forest but until this week I didn't even know exactly where it was located. A trip to the court house and a little research of the tax records of the year of 1990 provided the property description. After locating the description on a county map I went out there. A couple of huge trees soon led me to where the house and barn and etc. had once stood. The land was just as it was when the place burned making locating the old foundations and cellar hole easy. I was surprised to find the base of a silo there which I had not seen or noticed in old pictures. I even located where the old outhouse had stood. It seemed strange to walk the ground where my mother had played as a child. I tried to picture from old pictures I had seen just how it had once looked. I feel much closer to those hardy grandparents now that I have walked where they once trod. A piece of broken bowl I found there that the hands of my Mother and Grandmother had once handled is now a prized keepsake. You can be sure I will visit there often now and see again those buildings standing as they once stood.

Dec. 12 School Election Set

By Irene Pettyjohn

The question of whether to construct a second elementary school in Grayling will go before voters again on December 12.

Crawford AuSable School Superintendent Kent Reynolds said members of the Board of Education approved bringing the issue back to voters at their August 20 meeting.

"Our enrollment at the elementary level is coming in as expected," said Reynolds, "and we have just completed making the assignments for the transfer of fourth grade students and kindergarten students to Frederic. People are not particularly happy over having their children transferred," he continued. "This issue certainly points out the need for additional building space."

The board will be presenting the same two proposals that were on the June school election ballot, but Reynolds said the exact amount of each proposal will not be determined until the board meets in October.

"This will give the board time to analyze the affects of inflation over the past six months and decide whether the new requests will be more or less than those proposed last June," said Reynolds.

The first proposal will ask voters to approve the board's issuance of bonds for the construction of a second elementary school and the second will ask for a millage increase for the new building's operational expenses. Once again, both requests must pass before the board will begin construction.

The school board and infrastructure committee felt it was important that the date for the new election be set before school began to enable the district's teaching staff, personnel, and parents know that there would be another election and that it will be on December 12.

"As parents register their children, attend open houses and parent/teacher conferences we will be able to make it clear that we have a plan to solve the obvious overcrowded conditions," Reynolds said.

Reynolds said the new Grayling Elementary School principal, Barbara Mick, has been acquainting herself with the school's specialized personnel such as physical education, music, special education, and gifted and talented. He said she has been trying to find creative ways to schedule those programs and find space within the building where they can meet and still offer a sound education program. He said some of the special programs would have to meet in the school library, which means the library will not be available to students during those times.

He said the infrastructure committee will be meeting in the next couple of weeks to finalize some campaign plans. They will be looking at what kinds of activities are going to occur in the buildings and how the committee can make the community more aware of the need for additional classrooms.

"When we lost in June it became evident that there was not a universal agreement that there was a need for a second elementary school," said Reynolds. "Because among those who understood the need, the solution seemed reasonable."

Luther, Nations Wed

Vikki Luther became the bride of Patrick Nations June 16th, in a double ring ceremony at the First Congregational Church of Owosso. The Reverend Warner Siebert performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Poc of Graying. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John Nations of Corunna.

The bride's satin wedding dress featured a high jeweled neckline and cathedral train heavily embroidered with fans of handsewn sequins and beaded appliques.

A pout veil of lace and illusion complemented the gown, secured by a clip decorated with lily of the valley and pearl sprays. The bride carried a hankiechief that was once the bonnet the groom wore home from the hospital at birth. She also wore the engagement ring of the groom's great-grandmother. Roses, mini carnations and baby's breath were included in her bouquet.

Robin Cornell of Detroit attended the bride as maid of honor. Tracy Palsey of Bancroft, Anne-Marie Montoya of Midland, and niece of bride Kristi Davidson of Peoria, Illinois, attended as bridesmaids.

Lee Nations, Corunna, brother of the groom, served as best man for the groom. Doug Balcom of Owosso, Mike Gillett of Corunna, and John Ade of Corunna attended as groomsmen.

Ushers were Gary Jacobs of Owosso and Bret Luchenbill of Corunna.

The couple greeted 350 guests at a buffet dinner reception at Moore's Family Circle Hall in Corunna before leaving on a honeymoon in Nassau, Bahamas.

They are making their home in Owosso.

The new Mrs. Nations is a licensed practical nurse at the Shiawassee County Medical Care facility in Corunna. Her husband is employed at U.S. Brick in Corunna.

Consumers Power Will Offer Energy Check-ups

Consumers Power Company is launching a major new energy conservation program which offers a free home energy checkup by professional conservation experts. In addition, residential customers can qualify for up to $1,000 in bonuses if they take energy efficiency measures recommended by auditors.

Called "Great Shape," the program is available to all Consumers Power electric and/or natural gas residential and commercial customers. Customers can schedule an audit by calling 1-800-842-6971.

"This is the first free major energy conservation program Consumers Power has offered," said Michael G. Morris, the utility's executive vice president for natural gas and marketing. "This program will play an important role in helping us meet Michigan's energy needs in the 1990's.

In addition to a free energy checkup, customers can qualify for bonuses for taking conservation measures recommended by auditors. Typical recommendations could include installation of more efficient lighting; ceiling, wall and/or floor insulation; pipe and duct insulation; main heating system upgrade; air-conditioning upgrade; or a water heater replacement and wrap.

Consumers Power will reimburse residential customers for up to 25 percent of installation costs, up to a maximum of $1,000 for large homes of greater than 1,500 square feet. Commercial customers are also eligible for bonuses for taking conservation measures recommended by auditors.

Grayling Teams Attend Camps

The Grayling Girl's Basketball team recently attended a team camp in Olivet, Michigan. This was the 4th team camp attended by a GHS Girl's Varsity team. The level of competition was good as Grayling played one class A team, 4 class B teams and 5 class C teams.

Each player met new friends and the trip was a valuable conditioner for the regular season. Coaches Howard Lehti, Jimmy Parker and Harold Merics attended.

The J.V. team, under the direction of Coach Hudson, attended a team camp at Northwood Institute. This was the first J.V. camp ever attended by a Grayling team.

Mrs. Betty Pomerleau, accompanied by her daughter, Jeanne Dosch, of Cadillac, flew from Traverse City to San Diego, California, on August 2. They went to attend the wedding of Betty's granddaughter, Michelle Brekke, to Shawn Buckley on Saturday, August 4, at the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Masonic Lodge.

While they were there, they stayed with Betty's daughter and husband, Diane and Wendel Skinner, in La Mesa, and returned home on August 8.

Peter Smith of Saugerties, New York, accompanied his grandparents, Bob and Fay Bovee, home after the Bovees had attended a Packard family reunion in Plymouth and Bridgewater, Massachusetts.

They also visited their daughter and family, Billie and Richie Smith and Paul, and on their return to Michigan attended the wedding of Bob's nephew, Chris Moore, to Pauline DeKilder on Saturday, August 18, in Paw Paw. The Smiths were to arrive on Wednesday, August 22, to spend a week.

Stephanie Taylor of Mt. Pleasant visited her great grandmother Mrs. Doris Souders, for several days. Stephanie also visited Brandy McClain.

Gary and Rhea Glisan and daughters, Julie, Dena, and Shannon, of Columbia, Maryland, are expected this week to visit Rhea's parents, Joe and Faith Stripe.

Attending were son Ed Skinner and wife Donna, from Peoria, Illinois; daughters Marilyn Brady and husband Bob, from Canton, Myrna Slaby and husband Jerry, and Rita Holcamp and husband Ron, both from Traverse City. Guests also included seven grandchildren, one great-grandchild and friend, Felix Buccellato.

Bea's youngest daughter Roberta Robinson and husband Bob, of Clarcona, Florida, were unable to attend. Their son David of the 82nd Airborne had just been sent to Saudi Arabia on active duty. Other family members who were unable to attend remembered her with cards, flowers and phone calls.

The Gulfstream IV is the fastest-selling executive jet aircraft in the history of business aviation. The President has one. So do the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Denmark, Italy and Sweden each employs a G-IV as "air force one." 3M owns three.

Ch, yes. And Bill Cosby has one. For about $20 million, you can have one!

Using techniques that didn't even exist 10 years ago, scientists have discovered grains of graphite that are, quite literally, star dust. "We actually have star dust in the laboratory, matter that is older than the solar system itself, which we can study and link to specific star types," says Ernst Zinner, Ph.D., a physicist at Washington University. Found in meteorites, the microscopic grains are the third known type of interstellar material.

Sunglasses for Windows

It's like putting sunglasses on a window, says David Bibler, about applying Lumar, solar-controlled window films.

The Micro-thin, polyester-mylar films are virtually invisible when properly applied to existing windows.

But the films block up to 80 percent of the heat in summer and retain up to 65 percent of the heat in winter, says Bibler, co-owner of Quality Window Tinting in Traverse City, Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, with his wife, Judy.

Three types of films — reflective, non-reflective and Low E series are available, all of which virtually eliminate the ultra-violet rays which cause sun rot, sun fading and sun glare. These films are all covered by a 7-year warranty.

Quality Window Tinting also installs solar control film on motor homes and passenger vehicles. All installations come with a lifetime guarantee.

THE AVALANCHE FOR ALL YOUR LOCAL NEWS

TAKE A FEW MINUTES TO GO THROUGH YOUR GARBAGE.

Every week more than 500,000 trees are used to produce the two-thirds of newspapers that are never recycled.

American consumers and industry throw away enough aluminum to rebuild our entire commercial air fleet every three months.

We throw away enough glass bottles and jars to fill the 1,350-foot twin towers of New York's World Trade Center every two weeks.

We throw away enough iron and steel to continuously supply all the nation's automakers.

The ordinary bag of trash you throw away is slowly becoming a serious problem for everybody. Not only are we running out of resources to make the products we need, but we're running out of places to put what's left over.

Write the Environmental Defense Fund at: 257 Park Avenue South, New York, NY 10010, for a free brochure that will tell you virtually everything you need to know about recycling.

The few minutes you take to learn how to recycle will spare us all a lot of garbage later.

12 alternatives to lashing out at your kid.

The next time everyday pressures build up to the point where you feel like lashing out—STOP! And try any of these simple alternatives.

You'll feel better . . . and so will your child.

1. Take a deep breath. And another. Then remember you are the adult . . .
2. Close your eyes and imagine you're hearing what your child is about to hear.
3. Press your lips together and count to 10. Or better yet, to 20.
4. Put your child in a time-out chair. (Remember the rule: one time-out minute for each year of age.)
5. Put yourself in a time-out chair. Think about why you are angry: Is it your child, or is your child simply a convenient target for your anger?
6. Phone a friend.
7. If someone can watch the children, go outside and take a walk.
8. Take a hot bath or splash cold water on your face.
9. Hug a pillow.
10. Turn on some music. Maybe even sing along.
11. Pick up a pencil and write down as many helpful words as you can think of. Save the list.
12. Write for prevention information: National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse, Box 2866L, Chicago, IL 60690.

Stop using words that hurt. Start using words that help.

H&R Block to Offer Tax School in this Area

Thousands of people are learning the skill of income tax preparation from H&R Block and are earning money as income tax preparers.

H&R Block, the world's largest income tax preparation service, is offering a basic income tax course starting September 10th, with evening classes available. Classes will be offered at many convenient area locations.

During the 13 week course, students will study all phases of income tax preparation and receive actual experience in preparing individual returns. Experienced Block instructors will teach current laws, theory and application, as practiced in Block offices nationwide. There is a classroom discussion on each tax subject and practice problems at every level. Courses are programmed to teach students increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses. Students will find the course both interesting and challenging.

Courses are ideally suited for people who want to increase their tax knowledge and learn how to save money on taxes or who are looking for a rewarding career. No prerequisites are required to enroll.

Qualified course graduates may be offered job interviews for positions with Block. Many accept employment with Block because of the flexible hours available. However, Block is under no obligation to accept employment with H&R Block.

One low course fee includes all textbooks, supplies and tax forms necessary for the completion of the course. Certificates and 7.5 continuing education units will be awarded upon successful completion of the course. Master, Visa and Discover cards are accepted, or a time payment plan is available.

Registration forms and a brochure for the income tax course may be obtained by contacting H&R Block office at:

The Bible Speaks

I John 3:4-6 Part #12 God's Love Promotes Holiness

Everything about God, His commandments, His conduct, and His character, stand opposed to the practice of sin. God's standard as found in His Holy Scriptures is opposed to sin. "Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law: for sin is the transgression of the law." (1 John 3:4). It is God's Holy law which identifies our sins. (Romans 3:20). God's love was manifested by His law that our sinful condition might be known to us.

God's sacrifice for our sins should promote holiness of life. "And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin." (1 John 3:5). John the Baptist announced Him, "...Behold the lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world."

(John 1:29). "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins." (1 John 4:10). "Who his own self I bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed." (1 Peter 2:24). "Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works." (Titus 2:14). Our response should be holiness of life, "...unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood." (Rev. 1:5b).

The very stature of God's character in our relationship with Him promotes holiness. "Whosoever abideth in him sinneth not: whosoever sinneth hath not seen him, neither known him." (1 John 3:6). As John has already said, "He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him." (1 John 2:4). "Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God: but he that doeth evil hath not seen God." (3 John 1:11). The continual practice of sin is foreign to a true believer.

Everything God stands for, has done for us, and has taught us in His Holy Scriptures stands opposed to our practice of sin. "What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin, that grace may abound? God forbid. How shall we, that are dead to sin, live any longer therein?" (Romans 6:1,2). "What then? Shall we sin, because we are not under the law, but under grace? God forbid. Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?" (Romans 6:15,16). As sons of God in God's family, we should desire to live holy lives.

BRIDGES

"No man is an island," said the poet. Yet, in a real sense, every person is an island. And life is the process of building bridges from one island to another.

From the first cry in the delivery room, to the last whisper on the death bed, we are in the life-long process of building bridges to other islands (other people).

Your place of worship will give you tools for building bridges, not only to other people, but to the One who created you in His image. And building bridges is exciting, enabling you to cross-over into new lands of real living.

Let God's House be your bridge this week.

GHS Class of 1970 Enjoys 3-Day Reunion

The GHS class of 1970 participated in a three day reunion August 3-5. Since they had not had a reunion in ten years, they held a "Break the Ice, Come As You Were" reunion at Spikes. It was enjoyed by 42 classmates, a few husbands, wives, and friends. The end of the night was highlighted by a tour of the class's old party sites by Richard and Linda Moshier.

Saturday night was "The Main Event" or "Come As You Are" part of the reunion. It was held at the Grayling Country Club and was attended by 52 classmates, plus their wives, husbands, and a few friends. A delicious prime rib dinner was put on by Bourrie's Catering. Their class sponsor, Bruce Smith and wife Corrine, were able to attend and enjoyed visiting with everyone.

Those classmates coming the farthest: Nancy Burns, Virginia Beach, VA; Teresa (Trevino) Kvergas, Scranton, PA; Mike and Ricky (Nelson) Kelly, McMinnville, OR; Bruce Lennon and Beth, St. Petersburg, FL; Janice (Morningstar) Feldman, Palm Springs, CA; Doug Stephan, Hudson, FL; and Max Tobin, Boca Raton, FL.

Out of town classmates from Michigan: Mary Ann (Gothro) Clayton and Bob, Novi; Kirby Pettyjohn and Lynn, Traverse City; Debbie (Nethers) Hayes and Dub, Okemos; Chris (Southwell) and Mike Jungman, Novi; Vern Hartman and Cheryl, Midland; Vicki (Wheeler) Bennett and brother-in-law Wayne Hindmarsh, Roseville and Lansing; Kathy (Clough) Belcher and Steve, Big Rapids; Debbie (May) Huggard and Dennis, Freeland; Rhea (Duncan) Foreman, Kalamazoo; Dave Holmes, Gaylord; Gary Vajda and Marlene, Bellaire; Frank Doty and Joanne, Traverse City; Kerry Palmer and Lori, Callava; Barb (Marlow) Heiges and John, Interlochen; Skeeter Feldhauser and Carol, Grand Lodge; Jerry (Blaauw) Baxter, Holland; Cary and Ann Vajda, Roscommon; Jim Knibbs and Cindy, Petoskey; Roger McEvers, Portage; Tom Welch II, Bridgeport; Kathy (Post) deLopez and Guillermo, Bay City; and Tom Middleton, Saginaw.

Those attending from Grayling: John Hirvela, Brad Scheer, Mary (Leninger) Goss, Wayne San Cartier and Janet, Dave Wyss, Richard Moshier and Linda, Mike Kucharek and Wendy, Dale Papendick and Eileen, Dick Persing, Dixie (Dillon) and Dick Lobsinger, Beth Ann (Millikin) Wakeley, Bonnie (Small) Smith and Paul, Bruce and Marcy (Millikin) Burkett, Bob and Susan (Bourrie) McCurdy, Joy (Rasmussen) and Keith Robenmoyer, Debbie (Niederer) and Gerry St Germain, Paula (Lovely) Harwood, and Louie Maurer. Also dropping in to visit the class of 1970's reunion were Ken and Karen (Gorney) Bindshatel (1971), Brian Duncley (1971) and Julie, and Karen (Feldhauser) Sproul (1971).

On Sunday, 12 classmates and their families attended a picnic at the McCurdy residence on Lake Margrethe. They met everyone's children and had a chance to say good-byes.

The 1990 Class Reunion Committee, of Joy, Susan, Marcy, and Deb, said they had a great time planning and making this reunion happen. "We would like to thank everyone for coming and making this a big success! We hope to see everyone again in five years, plus some others, too! If you would like addresses of former classmates, contact one of the above people, or the school. The addresses are on the computer thanks to Mary (Leninger) Goss."

The Reunion Committee expressed special thanks to all who saved green ships, Glen's Market for the delicious cake, the fantastic waitresses and people at Spike's who put up with us, Richard and Linda Moshier for a great time, Bourrie's Catering, the golf course and their nice employees, Mrs. Fay Bovee for all her help in finding the addresses, and Marcy Burkett for the lovely decorations. They also asked class members to keep in contact if you change addresses.

The Vietnam Memorial

Remembering The Sacrifice Of Soldiers and Families

By Irene Pettyjohn

When my brother was serving in Vietnam, life for me as a young mother, wife and homemaker ceased to be as carefree as it had been before Joe shipped over. I watched for the mailman, hoping to get a letter saying he was all right, and I kept in close contact with my parents for all the latest news. We all watched the postmarks on his letters. When Joe's letters came postage free, we knew he was "in harm's way." When his letters came with postage stamps attached, we relaxed a little because that meant he was mailing the letter from one of several ports his ship anchored in to take on supplies.

Being "in harm's way" for my brother meant he was traveling up and down the Mekong Delta bringing supplies and ammunition to the U.S. forces fighting there.

Telephone calls in the middle of the night made my heart beat faster; going too long without mail caused us all to worry.

When Joe's tour of duty in Vietnam ended, he came home and our lives settled back into our normal routines. We listened to TV news broadcasts and read newspaper accounts of the war and we were concerned about the young men and women still fighting there; but we didn't have to worry about where Joe was anymore. We were thankful.

The articles featured in this special section are stories about young men from our community who did not return home to their families following their tours of duty.

According to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Directory of Names, five of them listed Grayling as their home town. One of these young men never lived in Grayling, but re-enlisted here. A sixth man's family moved to Crawford County after he graduated from high school and is listed in the directory as coming from Royal Oak.

These stories are not intended to represent all the losses suffered by the residents of Crawford County. There are 58,175 names listed on the Vietnam Memorial Moving Wall, as of January, 1990. These names represent our sons and daughters, husbands and wives, grandsons and granddaughters, nieces and nephews, friends and neighbors.

We remember these men in an effort to remind all of us of their supreme sacrifice and the sacrifice of their families who continue to live with their losses.

VIETNAM MEMORIAL—People of all ages and from all areas of the nation attend the Vietnam Veterans Memorial. Many of them leave mementoes, which are collected and shipped to Vietnam Combat Veterans, Ltd. A museum to display everything collected is being planned.

Michael James Hatfield

Flying Helicopters Was An Extension Of Him

By Nancy Lemmen

Shelly Hatfield will be married on September 28, in the Michelson Memorial Methodist Church of Grayling — the same date and the same place as her mother and father were married 22 years ago.

They had been sweethearts since the 7th grade, when they had met in school. "That was it," remembers Janet Stephan Hatfield. "We knew. You meet someone and you know right there that's your life."

Shelly will slip her father's wedding ring on the finger of her new husband, Louie Rioux. But her father won't be there to give her away in marriage. In truth, Shelly never even knew him.

Her father, Warrant Officer Michael James Hatfield, was killed in action in Vietnam on March 22, 1970, when Janet, his 20-year-old wife, was two months pregnant with Shelly.

According to the Army, five American helicopters were landing and unloading infantrymen into a mountain range near Xuan Loc that day to isolate and attack detachments of enemy soldiers. Because the area was so small, only one aircraft could land at a time.

At approximately 11 a.m. — just as WO1 Michael Hatfield's helicopter had landed and troops were unloading — the aircraft was hit by a B40 rocket (an explosive device) and intense automatic weapon fire. Michael was fatally wounded. Then his helicopter burst into flames with him trapped inside.

Janet says she wasn't shocked when the news of her husband's death came. "Usually I got a letter from Mike every three to four days. I hadn't gotten one in a week and already had the feeling that something was wrong."

Then several days after Mike died, she received two letters from him, saying he was happy to be "going to be a daddy" and hoping he would make a good parent.

"Mike was my life," says Janet simply. "Being pregnant — having a part of him — gave me some reason to live. Otherwise, I couldn't have gone on. That's why I pulled myself together."

When their baby girl was born, her mother named her Michaela Jamie Hatfield, after her father.

After living in several other places, Janet moved back to Grayling 10 years ago because she wanted Michaela to be around her grandparents, to grow up with her family.

Michael was the only son of Harold (Bum) and Ilene Hatfield, Jr., who live in Grayling, and the only brother of Marcelene Hatfield, who now lives in the Benton Harbor area.

When he was drafted in 1968 after one year at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City, Mike was "set to go," says Ilene. "I wanted him to stay in school, but I didn't fight it."

Michael loved being a helicopter pilot, adds his mother. "Flying helicopters was an extension of him."

Neither parent remembers Mike having an objection to being sent to Vietnam, and he didn't appear to dread it outwardly. Says Bum, a World War II Army veteran who was wounded in France, "You spin the wheel of fortune; where it lands, you're stuck with it. I don't think he had any misgivings. He was proud to serve his country. . . . And I was proud when he went into the service."

Michael went through the progression of helicopter flight training schools in 1969, and was appointed a warrant officer on December 16. He and Janet then spent his 30-day leave at Bum and Ilene's home in Grayling before he was sent to Vietnam in January of 1970.

"Those 30 days were great," says Bum. "We had a lot of parties, talk and gossip. We didn't speak of worry. For parents, though, it's always there, especially for a kid who tripped on crackers and had two left feet."

Michael had been in Vietnam only a scant two months when he was killed on March 22. While all three agree that their memories of the days that followed are vague and blurred by pain, they can still remember how they felt.

"It was bad," explains Ilene. "Ours was an unhappy house there for a while. We waited a whole week for his body." Meanwhile family from both sides poured in.

"I spent 20 minutes in the funeral home," says Bum, "and then I walked out. My seven brothers took over."

"I can't even tell you who came to see us at the funeral home," says Janet. "Maybe I was in shock. I don't know. I was never alone with his casket. I never had a chance to say goodbye."

"The pain .. I can't describe how it feels. It's like someone reaches inside of you, pulling and pulling. You can cry and cry, but you don't feel any better afterwards."

"The pain," she adds, "I can't describe how it feels. It's like somebody reaches inside of you, pulling and pulling. You can cry and cry, but you don't feel any better afterwards."

"If it hadn't been for each other, we wouldn't have gotten through the damn thing," admits Bum. "We took turns crying. At times Ilene was stronger than I was. But we just kept plugging away. What could you do?"

Even though they both "hurt on the inside," they continued with their jobs, Ilene at Bear Archery and Bum as City Police Chief.

Says Bum, you're better off going to work than sitting around the house. But "when I'm alone or when I go to the cemetery, I think about it."

They became overprotective with their daughter Marcie after Mike died, say Bum and Ilene, and they had a tendency to spoil Shelly. "She was special," says her grandmother.

"Super special," adds Grandpa. "Janet would let us keep her whenever we wanted. She looks a lot like Michael in her features and her actions. Her hands are just like his. She's a nice blend of both of them."

Janet shows the same strong spirit as her in-laws. "You have to make peace with whatever happens to you. I could have sat around and said, 'Poor me. My husband was killed in Vietnam.' Or I could stand up and do things for myself."

"Lots of people have it worse," she continues. "It must have been heartwrenching for Bum and Ilene. Mike worshipped the ground his dad walked on. They had a special relationship. Bum's and Mike's handwriting looks exactly the same to me."

"Mike was a really good, happy-go-lucky kid," recalls Ilene. He had a bounce to his walk and never gave us any problems."

He was always interested in airplanes and knew he wanted to fly. He "played a little bit of sports — had a letter sweater," says his father, but his big love was hunting. By age 17 he always had an afternoon and weekend job. Even then he "kind of leaned toward the service."

Bum has definite feelings about Michael's death and the nation's involvement in Vietnam: "War and death are always a waste. But there are certain things you make sacrifices for. I can accept that."

"And I could accept my son's death until we pulled out of Vietnam, practically gave it away to North Vietnam. It was all for nothing. I still feel that his life was a waste. We weren't in there to win. That bothers me."

Janet, also, is plagued by the belief that Vietnam was a useless war and that the Vietnam veterans "got a raw deal."

WO1 Michael James Hatfield

"In World War I," she says, "there were parades in the streets. For Vietnam, vets came home to empty airports. Those guys didn't have a choice. They were sent, so they went."

"Today it's vets helping vets. It had to be a veteran who did the Wall. If he hadn't done it, it wouldn't have gotten done."

Bum and Ilene have been to the Memorial in Washington, D.C., and are bothered by the fact that it is loud and busy, like a tourist attraction. "It should be quiet there," he says, "for people to show respect."

But he adds that the statue of the three soldiers is magnificent. "You can see the wrinkles in their clothes, the fabric of their canteens. It is very, very impressive."

Now it is August, 1990, and the family makes plans for Shelly's wedding. "I will be traumatized to see her being married without her dad," admits Janet. Not a day goes by that I don't remember him. But you can't live in the past. You can never forget it, but you can't live in it."

Michael James Hatfield's name is located on panel 12W, line 33 of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Moving Wall.

"Being pregnant -- having a part of him -- gave me some reason to live. Otherwise I couldn't have gone on."

James Evert Blaauw

No One Could Understand Why He Had To Die

By Irene Pettyjohn

Jed Blaauw has many memories of his brother Jim. He remembers playing in the woods near their home when they were children.

"When we were kids living on the farm in Maple Forest we always had BB guns," he recalled. Eight years older than Jed and tall even then, Jed said, "When we'd be out in the woods together I remember always having to look up to see him."

He remembers Jim as a terrific sportsman who loved to hunt, fish, trap, and ride horseback. He remembers when Jim left home for Vietnam, never dreaming that it would be the last time he would see his brother alive.

Jed also remembers seeing the green car driving up and down the road in front of his parents home that day in March of 1968. Jim had been in Vietnam for about four months.

"Then the car drove into the driveway," he said.

The driver of the car, a sergeant (Jed said he could not remember the man's name), walked to his parents' front door and knocked.

"About a week later Jim's body was brought home by a military escort," Jed remembered. "They came in a small airplane that landed at the Grayling airport."

Spec. 5 James Evert Blaauw had been killed on March 22, 1968, near Hue, Vietnam, in the DMZ, when he was hit in the chest with shrapnel from a mortar that had landed in his foxhole.

Attached to the 101st Airborne Red Devils, he had been a member of an elite fighting force that had been compared with the Rangers and the Green Berets. He was a Point Man, responsible for reconnaissance work.

Jed, said his brother wanted to get into an airborne division, but at 6 foot 6 1/2 inches, he was too tall, so he crouched to make himself appear shorter and somehow made it in.

While in the 101st, Spec. 5 Blaauw spent one summer in Panama for "jump and jungle training."

"We were pretty sure when the Army sent him to Panama that eventually Jim would be sent to Vietnam," said Jed. "When he got his orders, we were all scared for him, worried for his safety."

Before going into the service, Jim shied away from heights, but he loved parachute training and would jump out of anything that flew.

Jed said his brother once got into a little trouble with his commanding officer for volunteering to jump too often, but Spec. 5 Blaauw continued to jump as often as possible.

Jim enlisted in the Army in early 1966 and did his basic training in Fort Campbell, KY.

When Jim wasn't jumping out of airplanes, Jed said Jim was jumping into the water. Free time in Panama for Jim meant engaging in another of his favorite hobbies, scuba diving. During one of these dives, Jim was stung by a man-of-war stingray which made him sick for several days.

Jim was home on leave in the fall of 1967. It was the last time he visited with his family. He shipped out in December.

Jed was 13 years old when Jim went to Vietnam. "I'd played war as a kid and I knew bullets were flying over there, but I never thought that Jim might die," he said.

In letters sent to his sister Janet, Jim expressed his concern about being sent to Vietnam and in letters sent while he was there, he said he was looking forward to leaving the area.

"As a whole, I think the family supported the war in Vietnam," said Jed. "Although the way the war was being handled toward the end, I think some were changing their opinions."

Because the war was operated poorly, especially toward the end, Jed said he felt it diminished Jim's sacrifice and the sacrifice of their family.

"I believe in America and if they called me I'd go," Jed said, "but they made Jim's death seem somewhat futile."

Jed said Jim's death was rough on his family, especially his parents.

"No one could understand why he had to die," he said. But he said his parents were proud of Jim and the choices he had made.

Spec. 5 James Evert Blaauw was killed eleven days after his 21st birthday. His funeral was April 3, 1968, at Mount Hope Lutheran Church where he had been confirmed into membership as a young man. He was buried in the Maple Forest Township Cemetery.

Born in Grand Rapids on March 11, 1947, Jim was the eldest son of Fred and Clara (Mike) Blaauw, one of seven children. His sister Janet was oldest, then there was Fred Jr., Jackie, Jerry, Jed, Joan and Frank.

Jim attended the Frederic school until the Grayling and Frederic schools consolidated when he was a junior. He graduated from Grayling High School in 1965.

While he was in the service, Jim sent money home for his parents to save for him. When he got out of the Army, Jim wanted to buy a place on the river and a new Plymouth Road Runner.

Spec. 5 Blaauw was awarded both the Bronze Star and Purple Heart and five other medals from the United States and Vietnam.

His name can be found on panel 45 E, line 54, of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Moving Wall.

Donald Allen Smith, Jr.

He Somehow Knew He Wouldn't Survive Vietnam

By Irene Pettyjohn

Two years ago Donelle Doan had the opportunity to visit the Vietnam Memorial in Washington D.C. In a recent letter Donelle, the only sister of Pfc. Donald Allen Smith, Jr., who was killed while serving in Vietnam, shared her experience and feelings as she came face to face with "The Wall."

"I stood in complete awe," she remembered. "Many of us cried openly for feelings we had not unleashed for many years. We left letters, flowers, awards, and anything we could leave of ourselves," she continued. "And our burdens became lighter as we walked away."

Pfc. Smith, of Beaver Creek Township, was killed in a helicopter accident on Oct. 4, 1966, in Vietnam, where he had been stationed since August 12, 1966. He served with Company A, Fifth Battalion, Seventh Cavalry of the First Cavalry Division, U.S. Army.

Don was born May 8, 1946, in Detroit, to Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Smith, of Roscommon, formerly of Ferndale. He graduated from Hazel Park High School in 1964. He was drafted by the U.S. Army in 1965.

"Many of us cried openly for feelings we had not unleashed for many years."

"His death destroyed our Dad. The day of the funeral he got down on his knees at the grave and said he wanted to die."

"Don was a very special man, who loved his family and country more than himself," remembered Donelle, of Santa Ana, California. "I am so proud of him."

The last time Donelle spoke to her brother was the night she was married.

"He came home to be the 'Best Man' in my wedding," she recalled. "That was July 23, 1966."

Donelle said Don somehow knew he would not survive Vietnam.

"He had his cemetery plot picked out and left instructions as to how he should be dressed," she recalled.

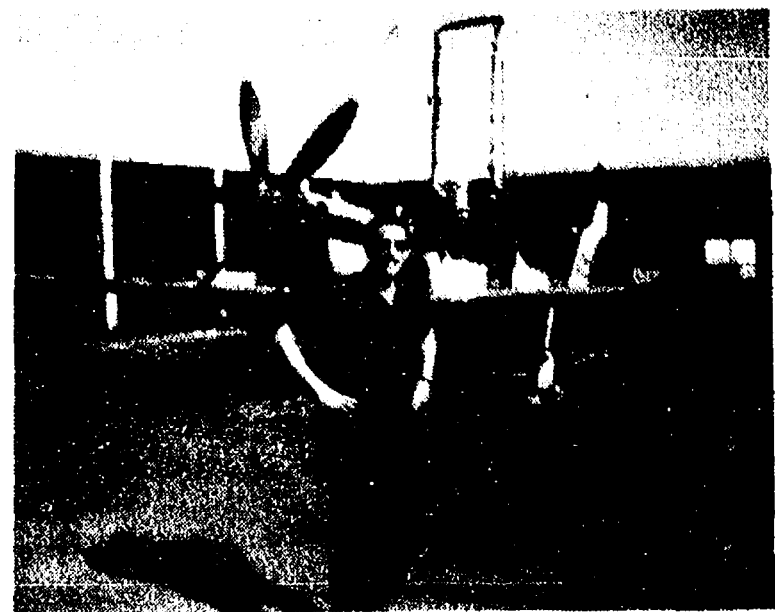

Don was engaged to be married.

"His death destroyed our Dad," she said. "The day of the funeral he got down on his knees at the grave and said he wanted to die." Within two years she said her father had wasted away with every conceivable illness, finally dying of heart failure.

Pfc. Donald Smith, Jr., was buried in the Beaver Creek Township Cemetery with full military honors. His name appears on panel 11 E, line 47, on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Moving Wall.

BILL AND HIS PLANE—Bill Borchers stands in front of his plane, the Lockheed YO2A.

Carl Wilhelm Borchers

He Wanted To Be A Pilot Like His Dad

By Nancy Lemmen

No one remains from WO2 Carl Wilhelm (Bill) Borchers' immediate family to talk about what it was like to lose a young man in the Vietnam War.

He was the only son of Clyde and Mary Gretchen Borchers. Clyde died in 1979, and Mary Gretchen followed in 1988. Today they are buried together, very close to their son's grave, in the Arlington National Cemetery.

Grandparents Carl and Louise Johnson are dead now, too, in these 19 years since their Bill was killed in action.

But extended family members and friends remain in the Grayling community who remember the handsome, dashing, charming, exciting young man.

Several people shared their recollections of Bill Borchers: Barb and John Sojka (Bill's cousin and her husband), Bill and Marian Joseph and Paul Thomson (Clyde and Mary Gretchen's very good friends) and Arnold Stancil (Bill Borchers' close buddy).

But no sad, sentimental newspaper article would be appreciated by Clyde, Mary Gretchen or Bill, they warned. The Borchers weren't the type to dwell on the sad things.

So, for the most part, they are the good memories, the happy remembrances, the funny stories of the daring young man whose greatest desire was to fly airplanes.

Paul Thomson remembers the first time he met Bill Borchers. It was a winter day and Bill called his father from Traverse City to say that he and a friend were flying over to Grayling.

"Clyde told him it was too damn cold to fly a little plane over here. The oil cooler might freeze up," remembers Paul.

An hour later Clyde Borchers received another call from Bill. "Can you come and get us in Kalkaska? We had an emergency landing. The oil cooler froze up."

Paul went along on the ride, and that's when he was introduced to Bill Borchers.

Such are the stories still being told about WO2 Carl Wilhelm Borchers, who had less than one month to serve in Vietnam when he was killed in action on June 6, 1971, at age 28.

"He was kind of a crazy guy," adds Arnold Stancil. "I played golf with him one cold April day." Then they went to the Borchers' house on Lake Margrethe, where Bill decided they should get Arnie's wife Cathy, who was eight months pregnant, and go out in the family sailboat.

Mother Mary Gretchen was appalled. "The ice on the lake just melted. You have to be out of your minds taking Cathy." But they went out anyway and had a fine time.

That was typical Bill Borchers, says Arnie. "He always found something to do, even when it was crummy out. He was always looking for excitement."

Paul Thomson says that Bill "had lots of adventures and was a free spirit before his time." Clyde came home once, he recalls, and found his boat missing. The first hint Clyde had as to where Bill had gone was when he received a call from Canadian Customs, asking if he owned a boat and did Bill indeed have his father's permission to use it.

Bill liked cars, motorcycles and airplanes, adds Paul. "He was a good storyteller, a good listener. A comfortable, likable guy."

There wasn't anybody who didn't like Bill Borchers," says Bill Joseph, who knew Bill's mother Mary Gretchen from childhood on.

Bill Borchers didn't actually grow up in Grayling. He spent his youth traveling with his parents while father Clyde was on active duty in the Air Force.

He attended elementary school in Germany, junior high in Fargo, North Dakota, and graduated from Kubasaki High School, Okinawa, in 1961.

But his vacations were spent with his maternal grandparents, Carl and Louise Johnson, in their summer home on Lake Margrethe.

"Bill had a lot of friends here," says Marian Joseph. "especially the lake people."

"Even though he wasn't a local boy, he was local," adds Bill Joseph.

After high school graduation, Bill Borchers enlisted in the United States Coast Guard for four years and served on the Great Lakes. He then attended Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City for two years.

But "he had a terrible desire to be an airline captain," explains his cousin Barbara Sojka. "That's why he enlisted in the Air Force."

"He wanted to be a pilot like his dad was," adds Arnie Stancil. "And he thought about making the Air Force a career."

His parents were very proud of Bill when he took up flying, recalls Paul Thomson. A retired lieutenant colonel, Clyde himself had flown in the China/Burma/India and Pacific Theatres for the Army Air Force during World War II.

Bill would call home from flight school, remembers Barb Sojka, say "hello, how are you?" to his mother, and then "talk planes" with his dad.

In 1970, WO2 Borchers and 11 other men were assigned as test pilots for the YO2A, Lockheed's experimental aircraft, which flew at fast speeds and low altitudes to avoid radar detection.

The plane was used for night surveillance, says Paul Thomson, and it was very quiet. "If it flew over your head at 100 feet, it sounded like a flock of birds."

Each of the dozen men had his own plane on which he trained, tested and then took to Vietnam. "Imagine that kid having his own plane," Bill Joseph remembers Clyde saying about his son.

A singular plane, the YO2A literally collapsed and folded up and could be moved in its own suitcase, add Barb and her husband John Sojka.

Evidently the other eleven men had already been killed flying their experimental aircrafts when Bill became the final man of the group to go down in mid 1971.

"He just didn't come back from a mission," explains Paul Thomson. "Clyde talked with his commanding officer, but they didn't know why it crashed."

Bill Borchers had been married since April, 1970, to Christie Sharon Nicholson. But she moved back with her family in Alabama when Bill went overseas, and the Borchers lost touch with her after their son was buried at Arlington National Cemetery.

In the ensuing years, the local VFW Post has named its chapter after Carl Wilhelm Borchers. And Clyde and Mary Gretchen started a scholarship fund through the Grayling High School Alumni Association, which still awards $1,000 annually to a graduating senior.

"He was a wonderful, wonderful kid," says Bill Joseph. "It's a shame his life was taken. We felt bad that he went (to Vietnam) at all. He had already served in the Coast Guard."

Marian Joseph adds, "He just wanted to fly and he had been happy in doing what he wanted to do."

Even so, says Paul Thomson, "There was a big sense of loss among the parents and the grandparents. Carl Johnson died here a few years ago, but he still missed his grandson Bill, still talked about him on occasion."

WO2 Carl Wilhelm Borchers

Arnie Stancil echoes some of the sadness that remains unspoken. He and Cathy still have the gift he sent them from Vietnam just before he was scheduled to return home. Says Arnie, "In his letter he said he'd see us in three weeks."

"When I'd see Mary Gretchen, I just couldn't make myself bring up Bill, 'cause I missed him. Even though I'd have liked to talk about him, I didn't want to upset her."

Both the Josephs and the Sojkas have been to the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C., and found it a memorable experience. "I couldn't believe I could be that impressed," says John Sojka.

Concludes Barb Sojka, "I just kept walking and walking and there were still more names. I never had a concept of how many died."

WO2 Carl Wilhelm Borchers' name can be found on panel 3W, line 68 of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Moving Wall.
